2018 Spring Meeting & Seminar: "Search, Seizure & Criminal Litigation"

Many people think the Fourth Amendment is dead. One thing is for sure, it's certainly not your parents' Fourth Amendment anymore. It may just be sleeping, so it is up to the criminal defense bar to wake it up—and there's no better place to bring it back from its slumber than in the city that never sleeps!

At this 2-day seminar, a nationally recognized faculty of experts and leading litigators will provide their expertise on the latest Fourth Amendment issues, including how the Fourth Amendment applies to 21st century communications.

On April 19, Kobie Flowers, a Brown, Goldstein & Levy partner, will present "Litigating Traffic Stops & Auto Searches." Kobie will provide a theory that will increase the probability of winning any 4th Amendment motion to suppress. Beyond theory, Kobie will give proven practice pointers to increase the chance of success at a suppression hearing. Finally, you will walk away from this presentation with not only the latest law in hand, but also you will better understand the rubber-meets-the-road reality of the 4th Amendment by way of Kobie's use of videos, the latest statistics, and even a documentary.
